F&C adds senior GSI team hire

F&C has announced the appointment of Sandra Carlisle as Director, Governance & Sustainable Investment (GSI). As Product Specialist with expertise in sustainable investment, Carlisle will lead F&C's response to increased demand for the firm's GSI product range. She will report to Karina Litvack, Head of Governance & Sustainable Investments.

F&C's 17-strong GSI team is one of the largest such teams in Europe. The company has a leading presence in the area of sustainable investment and shareholder engagement, having launched the first-ever ethically screened fund outside the US in 1984, followed by the adoption in 2000 of a comprehensive shareholder engagement approach through its Responsible Engagement Overlay (reo®) service, now applied to over €90bn of assets.

Carlisle brings 25 years of marketing and sell-side experience to the team gained in senior positions in leading investment banks. As a Managing Director in Citi's Global Equities division, she set up a global thematic and sustainable investment team, which was No1 Extel ranked from 2005-07, and worked extensively on the marketing and distribution of clean energy IPOs, and other capital raisings. Carlisle joins F&C from Brunswick Group, the global communications consultancy, where she built a sustainability and climate change practice.

Karina Litvack, Head of Governance & Sustainable Investment at F&C said: "The recent financial crisis has seen demand for our sustainable investments and shareholder engagement services increase significantly these last couple of years as clients come to appreciate the crucial role that investors must play in building sustainability and good governance into investment strategy and company-investor dialogue. We are therefore very excited to have someone of Sandra's calibre and experience joining our team."
